Going for Christ, Growing in Christ

Candelaria Conservative Baptist Church

Version 1.1 · September 2026

How to use this guide

This guide helps everyone who communicates on behalf of CCBC create materials that feel clear, consistent, and recognizably ours. Use it for bulletins, the website, newsletters, and event posters.

The Canva master is the editable source of truth.

Use approved logo files, colors, typefaces, photography, and writing guidance. When a situation is not covered here, choose the clearest solution that remains welcoming, biblical, family-oriented, and Christ-centered.

Brand foundation

CCBC is a welcoming, Scripture-centered church family where people go for Christ and grow together in Christ.

Our identity should feel familiar and unifying to current members while remaining warm, clear, and relevant to young families in Candelaria.

CCBC at a glance

Public name	CCBC
Formal name	Candelaria Conservative Baptist Church
Personality	Warm. Clear. Encouraging. Contemporary. Trustworthy.

Brand pillars

Welcoming

We are warm, approachable, relational, and open to newcomers.

Biblical

We are Scripture-centered, trustworthy, and grounded.

Family-oriented

We are multigenerational, communal, and supportive.

Every communication should express all three pillars, even when one is more prominent.

Name and tagline

Lead with CCBC in everyday communication. Use Candelaria Conservative Baptist Church for formal identification, legal clarity, and first-use context for people who may not know us.

Everyday communication

CCBC

Formal identification

Candelaria Conservative
Baptist Church

Our tagline is:

Going for Christ, Growing in Christ

The two parts express outward mission and inward formation. Use the tagline selectively on institutional materials. Keep it separate from the logo; do not attach it permanently to the artwork or force it onto every event asset.

Logo overview

Institutional mark standards

The existing CCBC logo is our primary institutional mark. Preserve it exactly and use the complete approved artwork.

Primary mark • full color on White

Full color on Warm Cream

Dark or photographic backgrounds

Use only formally prepared official reversed or single-color artwork on dark or photographic backgrounds.

Use the full-color logo on white, Warm Cream, or another quiet light background. Do not recreate the logo from screenshots, social media images, or typed text.

Logo and tagline

Keep the logo separate from the tagline. The tagline remains an independent text treatment and must not be locked into the logo artwork.

Use the approved logo artwork only. Keep clear space around the mark and preserve its proportions, color, and relationship to the page.

Standalone seal

The seal may stand alone, without the wordmark, where the full logo cannot fit: profile images, favicons, stamps, and small badges. The full logo remains the primary mark.

Keep clear space of at least half the seal's width on every side. Use the approved seal file only, and never pair it with a retyped wordmark.

Logo clear space and minimum size

Technical standards for protecting the official CCBC mark across print and digital applications.

Keep clear space around the logo equal to at least the height of one C in the CCBC wordmark on every side. No text, photograph, border, or graphic element may enter this area.

X = height of one C in the CCBC wordmark. The shaded area must stay empty on every side.

Minimum size

The approved master file is 3701 × 1083 pixels. Keep it at a size where the small text in the seal remains legible, and never enlarge it past acceptable visual quality. Final minimum sizes must be based on tests of the best available official master.

Conservative size note

When in doubt, use the larger reproduction size. Confirm seal legibility before release and use the best available official master file.

Reference reproduction · 160 px wide

Logo misuse

The CCBC logo is a protected identifier. Keep its proportions, relationship, and clarity intact across every application.

Never:

- Redraw, recolor, stretch, compress, crop, or rotate the logo.
- Separate or rearrange the seal and wordmark. Use the approved standalone seal file instead.
- Add outlines, shadows, glows, bevels, or other effects.
- Place the logo on a busy photograph.
- Put the current white-background image inside an improvised box.
- Attach the tagline permanently to the logo.
- Use a screenshot or social media copy as production artwork.

× On a busy photo

× Rotated

× Boxed on dark

× Cropped

Examples are shown deliberately wrong. Always use the approved master file at its supplied proportions.

Core color palette

CCBC uses a focused palette that balances institutional confidence, clear communication, and a warm civic welcome. Use these colors consistently across print and digital applications.

 CCBC Blue #1E3A8A Primary brand fields, covers, headers, and emphasis.	 Deep Navy #172554 Text, overlays, formal applications, and strong contrast.	 CCBC Gold #C8A64B Rules, highlights, icons, and restrained accents.	 Clear Sky #6DB7DD Fresh supporting panels, shapes, and event graphics.
 Warm Cream #FAF8F3 Preferred warm light background.	 Charcoal #1F2937 Primary body text.	 White #FFFFFF Clarity, contrast, and low-ink layouts.

Palette standards

- Use only the seven colors shown here. No extra colors and no gradients.
- No small Gold or Clear Sky text on White.
- Aim for approximately 60% light neutral, 25% blue or navy, 10% Clear Sky, and 5% gold.

Color combinations and accessibility

Preferred combinations for clarity, contrast, and reliable reproduction.

Prohibited pairings

Small text	✗ Gold for small text on White
Small text	✗ Clear Sky for small text on White

Use clear labels, checkmarks, and prohibition markers so the distinction remains understandable without relying on color alone.

Never use Gold or Clear Sky for small text on White. Never communicate meaning through color alone. Check contrast at the final output size and confirm that essential distinctions survive grayscale printing.

Typography

Manrope + Inter

A clear type system gives every CCBC message a confident voice. Use Manrope to lead attention and Inter to support reading, navigation, and everyday information.

Manrope

Use Manrope for headings, display text, event titles, and major calls to action. Use Bold or ExtraBold for major headings and Medium or Semibold for subheadings.

Inter

Use Inter for body text, schedules, labels, captions, newsletters, and website interface text. Use Regular for paragraphs and Semibold for functional labels.

Use Arial as a fallback only when brand fonts are unavailable. Prefer sentence case, left-aligned paragraphs, and clear hierarchy. Reserve widely spaced uppercase text for short labels. Do not use decorative script fonts or introduce additional typefaces.

People make the picture.

Warm light. Natural expressions. Life together.

60% candid / 40% polished

AI-generated style reference—not actual CCBC members.

01 / CANDID FELLOWSHIP

Keep relationships in frame.

02 / RELAXED PORTRAIT

Compose with care; let people relax.

03 / SHARED DISCIPLESHIP

Show listening, learning and participation.

Photography guidance

Real people. Real relationships. Real church life.

Photography should make the life of Candelaria Conservative Baptist Church feel visible, welcoming, and true. Show real people, real relationships, and real church life. Aim for approximately 60% candid and 40% polished photography.

The 60 / 40 balance

60% candid · Natural moments and active community life.

40% polished · Intentional portraits and composed feature imagery.

Choose the image for the moment

Candid

Use candid photography to show participation, connection, and everyday ministry in motion.

- Worship — shared attention, singing, prayer, and welcome.
- Fellowship — conversation, laughter, meals, and belonging.
- Service — people contributing with care and purpose.
- Discipleship — learning, mentoring, and growing together.
- Everyday ministry — the ordinary moments that build church life.
- Crop cue: keep gestures, relationships, and environmental context visible.

Polished

Use polished photography when a clear subject, composed frame, or confident presence supports the message.

- Website headers — establish a focused visual welcome.
- Major campaigns — carry a deliberate message across key touchpoints.
- Leadership features — introduce people with clarity and warmth.
- Crop cue: give portraits a calm, intentional focal point.

Reflect the actual people and community of Candelaria. Favor natural expressions, warm light, environmental context, and natural skin tones. Avoid generic stock worship scenes, exaggerated emotion, heavy filters, artificial lens effects, and staged 'perfect family' images.

Editorial framing

Use open compositions, visible context, and generous negative space. Let the subject feel present in a real place rather than isolated from community.

Permission

Obtain appropriate permission before prominently featuring children or identifiable people.

Graphic elements and layout

A simple system for clear movement and growth

Use a simple grid, generous margins, and strong left-aligned headlines. Let either one message or one photograph lead the page.

Graphic elements

Use large blue fields for identity, Clear Sky shapes for energy, and Gold for focused accents. Restrained angled bands, rising lines, and expanding blocks may suggest movement and growth.

Angled band

Rising line

Expanding blocks

Statement	Blue field · left-aligned headline · one dominant message Use a strong field and generous negative space to make one idea unmistakable.
Standards	Rising line · aligned columns · restrained Gold marker Use a measured grid to present rules, principles, or repeatable guidance.
Application	Expanding block · information group · clear response Use connected blocks to move the reader from context to action.

Grid and spacing

Six-column grid · 15 mm outer margins · 18 mm binding-side margin · 4 mm gutters · 8 pt spacing rhythm

8 pt	Small separation within a related group	Group date, time, location, and response action into one easy-to-scan information block. Keep logo placement consistent near a top or bottom edge with full clear space. Preserve the same typography, color roles, spacing rhythm, and photographic treatment as layouts change.
16 pt	Space between supporting elements
24 pt	Space between content blocks
32 pt	Major section transition

Layout check

Keep one dominant message, align every element to the six-column grid, and preserve generous negative space. Use White and Warm Cream as breathing room; reserve Gold for focused accents.

Voice and bilingual writing

Warm, clear, encouraging, biblical, and Christ-centered

CCBC communicates with a warm, clear, encouraging, biblical, and Christ-centered voice.

Voice is the consistent way CCBC sounds across announcements, invitations, teaching, care, and community updates. Keep one dominant message, make the next step clear, and leave room for people to respond with hope.

Voice principles

- Personal — Address people directly and make the invitation feel human.
- Clear — Use familiar words, short sentences, and one clear next step.
- Hopeful — Invite with grace rather than guilt, pressure, or hype.
- Biblical — Keep the message grounded in Christ without relying on unexplained church jargon.

Voice

Address people personally. Use direct sentences, familiar words, and specific next steps. Invite with hope rather than guilt, pressure, or hype. Avoid unexplained church jargon and academic language.

Bilingual writing

Use English, Filipino, or a natural bilingual blend according to the audience and occasion. Do not force both languages into every message. Translate for meaning and tone rather than mirroring each word mechanically.

Let the audience, setting, and pastoral purpose guide the language choice. A natural blend should feel welcoming and easy to understand.

Make the invitation human

Instead of

"Attendees are hereby encouraged to participate in our forthcoming fellowship activity."

Bulletin guidance

Clear hierarchy for Sunday communication

Two editable bulletin cover directions for Sunday communication: one calm and spacious, one economical and low-ink.

One message, two practical expressions

Both versions keep the cover hierarchy clear, place practical details together, and protect generous white space around the central message.

Editorial note

Use a clear cover hierarchy, comfortable type, and a predictable order. Keep practical details together, leave enough white space, and retain a grayscale-safe low-ink version for economical reproduction.

Application cues

Calm version

Warm Cream, Deep Navy, CCBC Blue, and restrained Gold/Clear Sky accents.

Low-ink version

White, Charcoal, and Deep Navy with minimal ink coverage.

Shared system

Strong left alignment, restrained bands, rising lines, and expanding blocks.

Website and newsletter applications

Spacious, story-led, easy to scan

Digital touchpoints carry the same clear, welcoming system across responsive web and editorial email formats.

Core expression — “Going for Christ, Growing in Christ” should remain easy to find, easy to scan, and supported by one dominant message.

Use strong left alignment, generous negative space, restrained angled bands, rising lines, and expanding blocks within the six-column grid.

Website

Use spacious layouts, clear navigation, warm community imagery, and direct next steps. Lead with one message and one primary action. Keep responsive crops away from faces and important details.

Application guidance

- Website — lead with one message, one primary “Learn more” action, and protected crop areas around live text.
- Newsletter — open with a story-led hierarchy, descriptive headings, short sections, and generous scanning space.
- Use the six-column grid, 4 mm gutters, 8 pt rhythm, 15 mm outer safe margins, and 18 mm binding-side margin.
- Use Manrope for headings and Inter for body copy across both applications.
- Keep all abstract blocks, bands, rising lines, and crop-safe frames editable; use no stock imagery.

Example layouts · Sample copy only. Replace with real content before use. Newsletter photo is an AI-generated style reference, not actual CCBC members.

Newsletter

Use an editorial, story-led structure with a clear opening, short sections, descriptive headings, and easy scanning. Favor real ministry stories and specific invitations over institutional announcements alone.

Event poster application

One message, one clear next step

Build every event poster around one dominant message, generous negative space, and a clear path from headline to grouped details. Use restrained angled bands, rising lines, and expanding blocks within the six-column grid.

Hierarchy

Lead with the event name, keep the visual field bold and quiet, and reserve the Gold accent for one focused point of attention.

Details

Group practical information together so the poster remains easy to scan at a glance.

Logo

The full-color logo sits on a Warm Cream band with full clear space, never directly on the blue field.

Application note

Keep one dominant message: let "Community Fellowship" lead, use the rising Clear Sky line to guide the eye, and keep "Date · Time · Location" with "Learn more" as one grouped details block.

Use only the approved palette and type system. Keep the logo clear and unobstructed. Avoid decorative clutter, multiple competing photographs, excessive effects, or long paragraphs.

Example layout · Sample copy only. Replace with real event details before use.

Production standards and pre-publication checklist
